

Special Extraordinary Sale ON ....MISSES AND LADIES....

Ready-Made Tailor Suits.

Beginning Monday, Dec. 10th, And Continuing One Week.

We Will Give a 10 Per Cent. Discount
On All Our Tailor Suits.

This sale is given more as an act of "Thanksgiving" than of a necessity. Our business in this line has been simply marvelous, and we have only a few suits on hand, and they are marked at exceedingly low prices, but we have decided to close out every suit in our stock before Christmas, and hence the above liberal offer.

We have some very elegant suits in both Misses and Ladies, and this offer will make the prices on many of them lower than you can buy the material, to say nothing of the making.

Prices Range from $4.25
to $25.00,

There are 4 Misses, (14, 16 and 18 years) at $10.00 to $15.00, 16 Ladies assorted sizes and colors at $4.25 to $25.00. Two or three days will close them out and if you are interested, an early visit is advisable.

MEACHAM RESIGNS

As a Member of The Christian County Election Board.

Charles M. Meacham, for the last three years a member of the Election Board of Christian county, tendered his resignation to the State Board Wednesday, to take effect at once. Under the new election law the Board next year will consist of two Republicans and one Democrat. Sheriff J. J. Barnes will be Chairman of the Board and the other two members will be appointed by the State Board from lists of names recommended by the county committees of the Democratic and Republican parties.

ELOPED AT NIGHT.

Caledonia Couple Have Knot Tied in Clarksville.

Mr. Edgar Tugge and Miss Alexander, popular young people of the Caledonia neighborhood, eloped to Clarksville Monday night and were married the next morning. They were accompanied by Mr. Clarence Gray, and reached Clarksville at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, after driving all night.
The wedding took place in the Arlington hotel.

The groom is a son of Mr. E. W.
Tugge and is a very prosperous young farmer.

His bride is a daughter of Mr.
Joseph Alexander and is a very pretty and popular young lady.

Mrs. T. L. Gant has returned from a visit to friends in Elkhorn.

STRIKE SITUATION.

Union Movement Seems To Be Gaining In Strength.

Operators Will Not Admit That There Is Danger of a Successful Tie-up.

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 6.—The miners' officials are making big claims. President Woods posted a bulletin in which he claims that the miners of Oak Hill and Morton's Gap have joined the union and will cease work today. The operators say very few if any of the men at the above places belong to the union. Oak Hill worked yesterday with a decreased force, but the manager said that a full force would be at work today. So it remains to be seen which is right, miners or operators. The operators of the Forysthe and Providence mines are finding it no easy task to fill the places of the strikers. Ten men arrived from Evansville yesterday to work at the Providence mines. They were met at the depot by a committee of miners and persuaded to return home.

The officials of the Mine Workers are receiving provisions in carload lots to feed the striking miners, and are asserting the confidence that they will win the strike. R. H.
McIntosh, a union miner, was fined $5 at Madisonville for assaulting an employee at Carbondale mines.
Judge Hall, of Webster county, has issued an anti-intimidation proclamation, but the Mayor of Providence is openly expressing sympathy with the strikers. Manager Booth, of the Carbondale mines, denies that any of his men have gone out on a strike.

DIED IN ILLINOIS.

Daughter of the Late Dr. Worrell Passes Away.

Mrs. Catherine Worrell, widow of the late Dr. T. F. Worrell, formerly of this county, died at her home in Bloomington, Ill., last week. She was formerly Miss Catherine Ewing, daughter of Adel Ewing, who lived in South Christian, near where Herndon is now located, and was about seventy-five years old. She moved with her husband to Bloomington fifty years ago, where she had since resided. Mrs. Worrell was the last of a family of two brothers and three sisters. Her husband was a leading physician of Bloomington and died about twelve years ago.

CHURCH DESTROYED.

Building Being Heated When Caught On Fire.

Zion Hope colored Baptist church situated about half way between Herndon and PeeDee burned Sunday morning. A fire had been built in the church for the purpose of heating the building before the hour for preaching arrived. The ceiling caught on fire, the whole building being enveloped in flames in a very short while. The church was a frame structure and was soon reduced to ashes. The loss is about $200. There was no insurance.

The membership is quite large and it is the intention to rebuild as soon as possible. Subscription papers are already being circulated and contributions have been quite liberal. If sufficient money can be raised within the next week, the work of rebuilding will commence at once.

The House bill reducing the war revenue tax was reported Wednesday and a final vote is expected before Christmas. The special tax is almost entirely removed. There is a reduction of twenty-five cents a barrel on beer, and also a reduction on tobacco. The total reduction is estimated to be about $40,000.
This is one bill we are all in favor of, regardless of politics.

will leave Frankfort Monday at 5:27 o'clock to attend the inauguration. Between 400 and 500 men will go. Lieut. Col. John Henry and Maj. E. B. Bassett, regimental officers, will also go with the company. The soldiers expect to return home Wednesday.

RAILROAD SPEEDS.

France Holds First Place for Long Fast Runs.

In a recent letter to the London Times, a correspondent, who has evidently gone into the subject with great care, has compiled several tables, showing the fastest trains, the distances they run, and their speeds, on the leading railroads of the world. The tables will, observes the Scientific American, be in some respects particularly gratifying to American readers, although it must be confessed that in respect to the total number of fast long-distance trains, France, which of late years has made wonderful strides in the development of her railroads, easily holds the premier position. Under the table of the fastest booked speeds, from start to stop, this country holds the list with four notable trains which are run on the Philadelphia & Reading and Pennsylvania railroads, from Camden to Atlantic City. The two Philadelphia & Reading trains cover the distance of 53½ miles at the rate of 66.6 miles an hour, while the two Pennsylvania railroad trains run between the same points a distance of 59 miles at the rate of 64.3 miles an hour. Following these is a French train which runs the distance from Moreux to Boulzex, 67½ miles, at the rate of 61.6 miles per hour, and next to this are four trains on the Camden-Atlantic City lines, with speeds of 61 and 60.5 miles an hour. Then follows a train on the Paris Amiens route, which covers 81½ miles at a speed of 60.5 miles an hour. The next two fast runs are short ones of 15 miles from Dorchester to Wareham in England, which are booked to be made at a speed of 60.1 miles an hour. It is a significant fact that out of 43 express trains, with a speed of over 55.5 miles an hour, these Dorchester-Wareham trains and three trains on the Caledonian railroad, two of which cover 32½ miles at 59.1 miles an hour and 56.5 miles an hour, and the third 89½ miles at 53.6 miles an hour, are the only ones that represent the English railroads; although it is true that 5 years ago that English roads were supreme in the matter of speed among the railroads of the world. Out of a total of 57 trains given in this table, there are only three other English trains which have a speed of 55 miles an hour or over. Summing up, we find that America heads the list in point of speed, with 23 trains while France has 26 trains and England eight in the table referred to.

The credit for running the fastest long-distance train in the world is to the Orleans & Midi railroad, whose train from Paris to Bayonne, a distance of 186½ miles, is run at a speed, including six stops, of 54.13 miles an hour. This is better than the Empire State express, which runs from New York to Buffalo, 110 miles, at a rate, including four stops, of 53.33 miles an hour. The best work of the English railroads is that done on the Great Northern from King's Cross to Edinburgh, a distance of 393½ miles, which is covered at an average speed, including three stops, of 50.7 miles per hour.

We have said that by virtue of the high average speed and great number of its long-distance express trains, France holds the premier position today, a statement which is borne out by the fact that there are 13 express which are booked to run at average speeds, including stops, of from 51.3 to 57.7 miles per hour, over distances of from 123 to 494 miles. The fastest of these is which runs from Bayonne to Bordeaux, covers a distance of 123 miles at 57.7 miles per hour, with two stops, while the most creditable run is one from Paris to Bayonne, of 486½ miles, at 51.4 miles an hour, above referred to.

Commenting upon this very interesting and impartial communication, the Engineer and Engineering have taken very different and very characteristic points of view. Engineering accepts the situation with the remark that it is "mortifying to observe what an extremely poor show is made by Great Britain in a field in which she was long preeminent," and adds that "if we take into account the special conditions in each case, the American performances are made to appear even more extraordinary than is at first apparent." The Engineer, on the other hand, states that "the occasion has been seized as a favorable opportunity for drawing invidious comparisons between the railroads of the United States and of this country." The latter contemporary takes occasion to felicitate itself on the fact that "it has done something to prevent the perpetuation of the preposterous statements as to enormous speeds attained on American railways." In view of the fact that the speeds as given are absolutely correct, it is something highly discrediting to American readers of Engineering in the consistency with which it has endeavored to escape from facts which have long been recognized by the world at large.

The Irl. R. Hicks 1901 Almanac.

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. Irl. R. Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of storm and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, cold wave and drought, have been plain predictions in his Almanac for many years. The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof. Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two-hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-tone engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar for Prof. Hicks' journal. ## L. &amp; N. EXTENDING SERVICE.

New Road Will Be Thrown Open January 1.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad is extending its service greatly in Alabama, and by the first of next year it expects to have in operation several miles of new track in that State, which will in all probability prove a fine investment, as it opens up new territory and consequently new wealth, says the Nashville American. The new road from Andalusia to Geneva, forty-five miles in length, will be thrown open to the public about Jan. 1. While it is only a branch road, yet when complete it will cost about $300,000 and will open up a new timber and cotton country. In addition to this stretch of track, the Louisville & Nashville is building innumerable branches from Birmingham to the coal and iron banks of Alabama, and is also connecting with many small towns in the vicinity of Birmingham. These branches, all told, will be about 125 miles in length, and will greatly benefit Birmingham as well as the road.

England's Greatest Pulpit Orator Declares That He Is About to Retire from the Ministry.

Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker, the famous preacher of London, is about to retire from the ministry. He is the pastor of the City temple, the leading Congregational church of Great Britain, and has been ever a prime favorite with Americans abroad. Dr. Parker established the City temple in 1869, and during the years that have passed since then he has been a favorite with the poor among the poor of the great city. Few pulpit orators are more eloquent, more outspoken or more fearless than the celebrated British divine. Preaching

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7.—

There will be six Smiths in the next Congress, with several States to hear from in Senatorial races.

Rear Admiral F. V. McNair, Senior Rear Admiral of the Navy, died in Washington last week while on waiting orders.

Vice-President-elect Roosevelt is going to Colorado to hunt mountain lions, but the President will continue to hobnob with the British Lion.

The ship subsidy bill, one of Hanna's favorite looting schemes, is up for consideration in the Senate and its advocates claim that the subsidy will be only (?) $9,000,000. There is no talk of giving subsidies to those too poor to own ships.

There is a big scramble on in Hopkins county for the Democratic nominations for county offices. The Hustler is already carrying 20 announcements, including that of its own editor, Mr. C. C. Givens, who wants to be county judge.

E. E. Sallee committed suicide at Lexington after fatally wounding his wife, Mamie Webster Sallee, who had recently fallen heir to $5,000, left her by the noted turf character, Lawson Webster. Mrs. Sallee died the next day.

After tendering the appointment of Senator to several Republicans who declined, Gov. Lind of Minnesota, appointed Hon. Chas. A. Towne to the vacancy caused by Senator Davis' death. He will serve only a month or two, until his Republican successor is elected by the Legislature.

The ministers at Pekin have at last reached a final agreement. The views of the United States prevail as to punishments and indemnity and the punishments are to be the severest inflicted by the Chinese government. On other points the French proposition formed the basis of the agreement. In the meantime the Governor of Shan-Si has already beheaded 80 rebel leaders.

When Gov. Beckham vacates the office of Lieutenant Governor to become Governor next week, a vacancy will be created in the former office. Lawyers do not agree upon the question of whether or not the vacancy is to be filled by election next year. President Carter of the Senate, will be acting Governor until the end of his term a year hence, at which time, in the event no election is held, a new Republican President of the Senate will almost surely be chosen, who would become Governor in the event of Gov. Beckham's assassination.

Mr. J. A. Fuqua<sup>4</sup> Governor Beckham's father-in-law, is one of five candidates for County Court Clerk of Daviess county, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Josh T. Griffith has held this office for many years and is a candidate for re-election. It is not likely that any candidate, or field of candidates however popular or influential, will be strong enough to shake the hold that Bob Griffith has upon the Democrats of Daviess county, whose leader he has been for fifteen years.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.
It makes life miserable.
It sufferers eat not because they want to,
but because they are irritable and fretful;
they know they are irritable and fretful;
but they cannot be otherwise.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffy fulness, headache, heartburn and what not.

The effectual remedy, prescribed by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is

REPUBLICAN EFFORTS

To Get Cases Set Over Until The New Court.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4.—In the court of appeals this morning the attorneys for the Republican contestants for the minor State offices filed affidavits to the effect that they had objected to the submission of the case on its merits, and asked that the records so show.

This is taken as an indication that the Republicans intend to try to get the case before the new court when Judge O'Rear gets on the bench, and that they will ask the court then to review it. The objection was overruled at the time and the case passed on.

The case of Jim Howard was called in the court of appeals this morning and set down for hearing on Friday, the 4th inst.

Judge George Denny, of Lexington, made a further play for delay in the Powers case. He entered a motion to be given until December 15 to file a brief. The court will pass on the motion to-morrow.

Pneumonia Prevented

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and a gripe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thos. Whitfield &amp; Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, is speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a gripe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of a gripe to result in pneumonia." For sale by all druggists.

HAYDON-PARSLEY.

Trigg County Couple Elegantly Entertained By Grooms Parents.

Mr. Hugh Haydon, of near Wallonia, and Miss Parsley, of Cadiz, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle Wednesday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. N. Strother, of the Baptist church, in the presence of a limited number of friends of the young people.

As soon as the wedding took place Mr. Haydon and his bride, accompanied by Mr. Fulton Henderson and Miss Fannie Hayden, the groom's sister, drove to this city, where an elegant reception was tendered the young people by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hayden, parents of the groom.

Mr. Haydon is a prosperous and very popular young Trigg County farmer and his bride is a very pretty young lady, exceedingly popular with a large circle of friends.

FRIDAY, DEC. 14

Palmer's "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

Palmer's "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" company gave one performance a few days since in Troy, N. Y., and the Times of that city thus refers to the visit: "Palmer's 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room' was greeted with a fair-sized audience at the Grand last night. Mr. Lincoln has all good people with him. Those deserving of mention are D. B. Ewell, who took the part of Sample Swichell; Miss Edith Banks, who took the part of Anna Morgan, the drunkard's wife; little Verna Marie as Mary Morgan, the drunkard's child and Horace Herbert as 'Joe' Morgan, the drunkard, could hardly have been excelled. You cannot afford to miss seeing this company. At Holland's Opera House Friday evening December 14.

William Wirt Henry, a distinguished lawyer, scholar and orator and a grandson of Patrick Henry, died at Richmond, Va.

The Watchword of Women.

Modesty is a woman's watchword. Modesty threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examination, and other social occasions which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Butcher, A. in perfect confidence, all letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women, especially to weak and young and sick women." "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

AFTER MONTHS

Of Intense Suffering Death Came as a Relief.

Mr. Olen E. Gardner died at the home of his father, Mr. G. W. Gardner, corner Ninth and Water streets, Wednesday night of cancer of the bowels. He had been in very bad health for a long time and several months ago had an operation performed in Chicago, but this afforded him only temporary relief. About two months ago he was again forced to take his bed and grew weaker each day until relieved of his suffering by death.

Mr. Gardner was a jeweler, aged 27 years, and leaves a wife, formerly Miss Mattie Overhiser.

The funeral will be preached at his late home at 10 o'clock this morning and the interment will follow in Hopewell.

LADIES--Moayon's Cloaks fit better, look better, wear better, than any other and will sell them 25 per cent. cheaper than anybody.

Consumption
Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you down. It does not come in with a yell. It creeps in with a whisper. First you think it is a little cold, then a little heat, then a cough; then a little loss of weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats. Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping. Better cure your cough today. You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The pressure on the chest is lifted, that feeling of suffocation is removed, and the disease can stop that little cold with a 25c. bottle; harder coughs will need a 50c. size; if it's on the lungs the one dollar size will be most economical.

"I confidently recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral to my patients. I am using it now in my own family. Forty years ago I suffered from my lungs, and I am now well again." A. S. ELLIOTT, M.D., Fort Madison, Iowa.

Jan. 4, 1898.

PROHIBITION MEETINGS.

Hold Forth at Pembroke To-Night
—Elmo Next.

W. M. Likins, prohibition State organizer and editor of the Kentucky Vindicator, State organ of the Prohibition party, together with Prof. J. Karl Taylor, his singer, are in Christian county holding meetings this week. To-night they will hold forth in the Methodist church at Pembroke. To-morrow night and Sunday they will hold meetings in the Baptist church at Elmo.

The Best Plaster.
A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected part is superior to any plaster. When troubled with back or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. One application gives relief. For sale by all druggists.

COUNTY COURT ORDERS.

Now road To Be Opened—Several Overseers Appointed.

The proposed new road from the Canton pike to Geo. W. Wilson's, connecting with the present road from the latter's farm to the Hopkinsville and Cadiz road, was ordered opened. The land along the route was condemned and damages ordered paid by the county. The following overseers of the road were appointed: James Turner for the Cerulean Springs and Madisonville road from the Trigg county line to the Hopkinsville and Princeton road; Jas. McCord for the South Lick road from Rogers, to the Sand Lick bridge; W. T. Fuller for Antioch road from Antioch to Ducker's Mill bridge; J. W. Rogers for Johnson's Mill road from Hopkinsville and Greenville road to J. R. Rogers'.

J. A. Owen was appointed deputy assessor for the First district.

R. P. Claxton was appointed administrator for his deceased son, Roy Claxton, with John A. Gunn as surety.

ABOUT THE WEED.

Warehousemen Preparing For Big Business—Receipts Yet Small.

The receipts of tobacco on the local market are still light, but are on the increase. Much of the loose weed is being delivered to the various rehandling establishments which are operating with a rush. Sales have been small and will not materially increase until the season is further advanced. Warehousemen are preparing for a heavy business, however, and a little later along quotations will be given to the public through the Ken-TUCKIAN.

Our Tailor Made Suits are simply beautiful and we'll take pleasure in showing them at Moayon's Big Store.

HEROIC RESCUE.

Details Just Learned of Allen Owen's Bravery.

The big wet weather pond at the Wallace place on the Cox's Mill road is gradually going down and the carcass of a mule drowned in the pond has been brought to view. The details of this incident were not published at the time. Beverly Sharp, an old negro man, drove his team of two mules into water over their heads and wagon, and driver were floundering in the deep water when Mr. Allen Owen, a young farmer, son of Mr. M. V. Owen, appeared upon the scene. He quickly pulled off his coat and shoes and heroically plunged into the water to rescue the old man and his mules if possible. He swam to them and succeeded in cutting one mule loose from the wagon and it swam to the shore. The other animal became tangled in the gear and was drowned. He then swam ashore with the old man in tow and rescued him. Mr. Owen's heroism undoubtedly saved the man's life, as both mules and the driver were in a drowning condition when he went to their assistance.

How to Cure Croup.

Mr. R. Gray, who lives near America, Dutchess county, N. Y., says: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear. For sale by all druggists.

Attorney Crockett Better,

Attorney A. P. Crockett, who has been dangerously ill of fever at the home of relatives in Nashville, is now much better. He is about clear of fever and unless there is a relapse he will be able to be out in a week or ten days.

Messrs. W. E. and Howard Ragsdale have gone to California.

A GLORIOUS BIRTHDAY.

How Baby Did Just as He Pleased for One Whole Day.

Fond Mother (to young people)—Now, Bobby, darling, to-day is your birthday, and you are 12 years of age. To-day I mean to let you have your own way in everything, so run out and have a good time.

Bobby, in high glee, runs out to hunt up Tom Jones, while mamma goes down-town to do some shopping; and this is the conversation which follows, when Tom and Bobby meet:

"Hello, Tom, old boy!"

"Hello, old boy, how is things?"

"Oh! everything is lovely, an' I was just looking for you to help me wreck the garden."

"Why, what's up, Bob?"

"Oh, it's my birthday to-day, and ma has gone down-town, and left me to do just as I please."

"Well, if that isn't splendid! say, how shall we begin?"

"Well, Tom, first I think it would be a good joke to tie a pail to Uncle Jim's dog's tail, and set him loose in the greenhouse; and then—let's see—oh, yes, Uncle Jim has got a can of gunpowder in his room, and we will take that and blow up the greenhouse."

"Jumbo, but you've got a head, Bob. I wouldn't have thought of so much fun in a whole week."

Two hours later Bobby's mamma is hastily summoned home to the bedside of her darling boy, where she finds two surgeons working over Bobby by and Tom, setting a bone here, sewing up a cut there, and bandaging more or less everywhere. The hen-house is a total wreck, likewise the greenhouse, while Uncle Jim's dog has been shot by a policeman, who thought him mad. And a mamma bends over her darling boy, smoothing his damp brow and weeping motherly tears, she softly whispers:

"I might have known, Bobby, darling, that that horrid Tom Jones would lead you into mischief."

And in spite of his pain, Bobby smiles and replies:

"Yes, mamma, but you ought to have been here to see the fun—I—wishes I had birthday—once a week." (Paints with pain.)—London Tit-Bits.

"BONA FIDE 'AMERICAN'."

As It Was Taught to a Foreigner with a Good Memory.

Dr. William Mason tells, in the Century, a good anecdote of the violinist Remenyi.

I have already had something to say of Edward Remenyi, the Hungarian violinist, who accompanied Brahms to Weimar in 1853. He was a talented man, and was esteemed by Liszt as being, in his way, a good violinist. He belonged to the class typified by Ole Bull, but did not achieve so great a reputation. He remained at Weimar after Brahms left there, and I became intimately acquainted with him. He was very entertaining, and so full of fun that he would have made a tip-top Irishman. He was at home in the Gipsy music of his own country, and this was the main characteristic of his playing. He had also a fond for playing Schubert melodies on the violin with the most attenuated pianissimo effects, and occasionally his hearers would listen intently after the tone had ceased, imagining that they still heard a trace of it.

Not long before leaving Weimar I had some fun with him by asking if he had ever heard "any bona fide American spoken." He replied that he did not know there was such a language. "Well," said I, "listen to this for a specimen: 'Ching-a-ling-a-darree, Chebeng cum Susan.'" I did not meet him again until 1878, 24 years after leaving Weimar. I was going upstairs to my studio in the Steinway building, when some one told me that Remenyi had arrived and was rehearsing for his concerts in one of the rooms above. So, going up, I followed the sounds of the violin, gave a quick knock, opened the door and went in. Remenyi looked at me for a moment, rushed forward and seized my hand, as he was writing it, cried out: "Ching-a-ling-a-darree, Chebeng cum Susan!" He had remembered all those years.

HOW HE TIMED THE TUNNEL.

Slow Man and an Interesting Occasion in a Railway Car.

When the train had been out of the station about five minutes the porter passed through the cars with a stick, with which he poked at the little windows in the ceiling so that they closed. Then he cast suspicious glances at the seat windows, as though he feared some extra muscular passenger had succeeded in fitting the glass a couple of inches.

As a matter of fact, says the New York Herald, he didn't really think anything of the kind, for he was an old porter on the road and had seen a long line of travelers humiliated by the windows, and no traveler triumphant. But he looked as if he suspected underneath work of some kind. He satisfied himself that the apartment was almost hermetically sealed, and allowed the gas jets to flicker in a feeble, apologetic sort of fashion. Then it grew dark outside. "The train was in the tunnel."

It was at this point that the stout man in the aisle seat received his cue. The interesting offspring of the pretty woman in front made the discovery.

You never saw an interesting offspring on a car seated like a civilized being. This I. O. was no exception. He stood on the red plush seat, with his face turned in the direction opposite to that in which the train ran. His knees were doubled under him in some mysterious way and his head was on a line with the top of the seat. Suddenly his eyes gathered in the full significance of the stout man. The stout man in the aisle seat received his cue. The interesting offspring of the pretty woman had turned around.

"Look, oh, look, mamma!" he cried.

Mamma looked. So did the passengers in the next seat. So did all the other people in the car. They saw the stout gentleman with one hand holding a handkerchief pressed firmly against his face and the other hand grasping an open-faced watch, at which he stared with painful solemnity.

When the crowd accorded its interest, the stout man reddened perceptibly, but he still regarded the watch with dogged persistence. The passengers began to make pointed and woe-be-taught remarks to one another, but the fat man stuck it out. When the end of the tunnel was reached the perspiration was dripping from his face—and the day was cold. He put the handkerchief in one pocket and the watch in another, and remarked to the man opposite:

"Four fifteen. Gee! I got embarrassed with all those folks staring at me. I'd never make an actor. Get stage fright or buck fever or something."

"May I ask what you were doing?"

"Timing the train while it was in the tunnel."

"Ah! And how long did it take you to go through?"

The fat man started violently. "Why—why—" he stammered. "Hanged if I didn't forget to notice what time it was when we went in."

"I do not deny that they occasionally be a want of comprehension on the part of the audience. "What was the sermon about to-day, Mary?"

"Please, m'm," said Mary, twisting the corner of her apron, "I've forgotten the text, but it was about young men."

"Oh, really?" said the lady; "and what else was it about?"

"Please, m'm, it was about young women, too." "But can you tell me anything Mr. B— said?"

"I couldn't repeat it exactly, m'm, for it was a mixed up kind of sermon; but it was very interesting," added the maiden.

But any attempt to fathom the mind of a congregation is usually fraught with danger. A priest who had delivered what seemed to him a striking sermon was anxious to ascertain his effect on his flock. "Was the sermon to-day to y'r likin', Pat?" he inquired of one of them. "Thro', y'r reverence, it was a grand sermon, intirely," said Pat, with such genuine admiration that his reverence felt moved to investigate further. "Was there any part of it more than another that seemed to take hold of y'e?" he inquired.

"Well, now, as ye are for axin' me, begorra, I'll tell ye. What hould of me most was y'r reverence's perseverance—the way ye went over the same thing agin and agin. Sich perseverance! I never did see in any man, before nor since."

One sample more and I have finished, for I cannot do better than bring my article to an end with the concluding words of a sermon on grace: "And, me brethren, when ye have done these things, come unto me, and I will rebuke you."

"I am very sorry," said the guard, politely, "but you tied him to a portmanteau, and he was put out with it at the last station."—London Tit-Bits.

UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR.

Laughs at the Expense of Certain Un-named Irish Clergymen.

In a remote country village, far from the madding crowd, German speculative theories, with which he was more familiar than geography, would have seemed about the last thing likely to influence his flock, but he was ever haunted by an awful fear of the heresy that might be wrought among them by such pernicious doctrines if they were not duly warned. "My brother," he said on one occasion, "there are some German philosophers that say there is no resurrection, and, me brother, it would be better for them than for German philosophers if, like Judas Iscariot, they had never been born." And this reveals to my mind, a writer in the Cornhill Magazine, another discourse, where the preacher wound up with the comforting assurance that if we paid due attention to the instruction we had just received from him we would "all return to our several homes like babes refreshed with new-made wine."

It was on another occasion that the same speaker, having ascended the pulpit, gave out his text with all due solemnity as follows: "My text is taken from the thirty-sixth chapter of Genesis and the second verse: 'And Esau took his wife of the daughters of Canaan'—or, rather, I should say, the twenty-seventh chapter: 'Bliss me, even me, also, oh, my father!' " And then, as one of his hearers aptly remarked, he proceeded to preach a sermon which had nothing to say to either of them.

Absent-mindedness and a weakness for metaphor are no doubt responsible for much. To the former I credit a discourse in which the reverend preacher alluded to Goliath fighting on behalf of the Israelites, while King Solomon sat by moodily in his tent, and to the latter a striking simile, which deeply impressed the feminine portion of the congregation, who were told that "the grave was the greatest wardrobe of the world, where we are folded up and put by, to be taken out new at the resurrection." But both of these are eclipsed by an eloquent speaker who in the course of an extempore address had wandered into medieval history. "And that hatter, Soliman," he said, "when he was lyin' dead upon the ground, sat up an' said to his friends: 'Behold, you now see the end of Soliman!'"

I do not deny that they may occasionally be a want of comprehension on the part of the audience. "What was the sermon about to-day, Mary?"

"Please, m'm," said Mary, twisting the corner of her apron, "I've forgotten the text, but it was about young men."

"Oh, really?" said the lady; "and what else was it about?"

"Please, m'm, it was about young women, too." "But can you tell me anything Mr. B— said?"

"I couldn't repeat it exactly, m'm, for it was a mixed up kind of sermon; but it was very interesting," added the maiden.

But any attempt to fathom the mind of a congregation is usually fraught with danger. A priest who had delivered what seemed to him a striking sermon, which had been rapidly proceeding toward extirpation. Dr. Brisson, a French surgeon, says that there is likely soon to be an exceptional demand for the analis in consequence of the success attending the use of kangaroo tendon in the hospitals. ## SHE MENDED IT.

A Relative Who Did Not Appreciate a Fine Oriental Rug.

There is a woman out on the West side who collects rags as other women collect lace or China and she is ready any time to go without a new gown or wear a hat two seasons if by doing so there is a chance that she may add to her collection. The hopefulness about her is that she has little money—little money that is for high-priced bits of oriental carpets for if she had and her manis as strong as it is now, there would not be an inch of wall or floor or furniture in her whole house not hidden beneath a rug. But as it is, she is obliged to make her purchases with discretion and only after long scrimping on personal and household allowances so that the acquisition of a new rug is a distinct event. A little while ago she bought a rare Keelin or some such name as that—wonderful colors skillfully mingled and woven together with the characteristic stitch that leaves an open space between each contrasting band. It was a lovely old thing and the woman hung it over with delight, throwing it over a table and going into raptures over its beauty, reveling in the way the mahogany of the table gleamed through the meshes of the openwork stripe and rejoicing in the soft blues and old reds of the faded fabric. That same day the woman's aunt arrived from New England, bringing a cold blast of puritanical ideas into her oriental reveries and making ancient rugs sink into insignificance besides body Brussels at $1.25. Whether it was the reaction or whether it was merely a cold taking in the draughty auction room where the dark Syrian had disposed of his wares that was responsible, I don't know, but at any rate the woman was taken ill and went to bed for a week, leaving the reins of household government in the hands of her relative. From the noise of brooms and dustpans that reached her bedroom, she knew that at least things were being kept clean, but she had no definite reports from below until the day when, still weak, her husband carried her downstairs, the relative making voluminous explanations from the landing. The governess had been changed and a cheaper laundry had been found, and as for the state of the vegetable bins in the cellar there was no word in the language capable of expressing their degradation.

FOUND—A PEARL.

Two Rival Lunch Counter Proprietors New Companions in Misery.

It was at Jean's little lunch counter. The man who had been quietly devouring a small fry suddenly sprang from his stool and shouted:

"I have found it!" Jean left the chair behind the cash register and came over to find the cause of the guest's excitement.

"What eis eit you have found?"

A pearl! The biggest pearl found in an oyster this season," and he placed the opaque object in his palm for Jean's inspection. It was Jean's turn to be excited.

"A pearl! Ah, eit is one beauty."

"A gem of the first water."

"One hundred dollars would be a moderate price for such a jewel."

"Will you sell eit to me for feety cash?"

"Fifty? Why, I told you it was worth double fifty."

"Yes, but you found eit in here."

The man with the pearl appeared to be in deep thought, says the Chicago Daily News. At last he placed the pearl in Jean's hand and said:

"Well, considering that I found it in your oysters it is only right that I should do the square thing. But what use are you going to make of it?"

"I will place eit in ze window for one advertisement. I will write on a card and ze people will know my oysters have ze pearls. I geze to trade Bungarten across ze street."

"Great idea! But give me the pearl and the pearl is yours."

Jean fished $40 from a greasy bag and the remainder from the cash register. With mumbled thanks the lucky man departed. Ten minutes later the pearl adorned the window. A neat card informed the public that the rare jewel had been found in one of Jean's oysters. All morning a crowd stood before the window and Jean was proud. But at noon Jean noticed a similar crowd in front of his rival's establishment.

"He is jealous," said Jean, slipping on his coat and hat, "and he fix up something to make one look."

But there was a surprise in store for Jean. In Bungarten's window was an exact duplicate of the Frenchman's pearl.

"Bungarten!" called Jean, "where you get ze pearl?"

The Teuton's chest expanded with pride.

"Dot pearl was found in mien oysters. I pay der man dot found it $10 and keep der pearl."

"But I paid feety for one ze same size. What kind of a man found your pearl, Bungarten?"

"He wore a golf cap and a blue coat."

"Then eit is ze same man. Bungarten, something eis funny. Let's see ze pearls to ze jeweler."

The Teuton agreed and Jean hurried over after his attraction. Together they hastened to the jeweler on Van Buren street.

"Are zey ze genuine pearls?" asked Jean.

The jeweler examined the pearls and smiled.

"Who said they were pearls?"

"We bought dem as pearls."

"Then, gentlemen, you have been sold. These are only smoked glass beads. They are intended to hold puff neckties together."

Then Jean and Bungarten went out to tell the police all about it.

When the Deaf Bear.

It is said that persons afflicted with certain forms of deafness can hear perfectly in the midst of a tumult. A locomotive engineer, upon examination by a medical expert, was found to be very deaf, and, although he protested that he could hear perfectly well on his engine, he was suspended from duty. Some time afterward, having vainly tried to get cured, he applied for reinstatement, again arguing the fact of his perfect hearing while on duty. Finally, in order to satisfy him, the physician rode with him upon a locomotive for a long distance and put him to every possible test. To the doctor's surprise, he found the man able not only to hear ordinary sounds without difficulty, but also to distinguish whispers and faint movements that were inaudible to his companion.

New English Lampost.

In England a lampost has been introduced which combines a fire hydrant, tap and fire alarm box. The hydrant can be used for fire alarm purposes, filling water carts and for street flushing, while the small tap can be used by an individual for domestic water supply. There is a water meter and siphon at the bottom, by which the water is shut off from the hydrant, thus preventing it from freezing.
